PAIR DENY KERRY DEATH CHARGE

THE trial of two teenagers accused of starting a blaze in Harlow which left a young woman dead and her boyfriend brain damaged is due to begin today (Thursday).

The boys, who were aged 13 and 14 at the time of the fire, deny murdering Kerry Youngs and causing grievous bodily harm to Kevin Chapple. They also deny manslaughter and arson with intent to endanger life and being reckless as to whether life was endangered.

St George

STAFF at a Harlow flower shop rose to the occasion when they were asked to supply scores of the national flower for dignitaries attending a St George's Day celebration in the Houses of Parliament.

Sue's Flowers, in Water Lane, Harlow, took an order for 150 red rose button holes and 50 red rose stems for the annual All Party Parliamentary Group reception which is being held today (Thursday).

The button holes will be offered to MPs and peers to wear while the stem roses will be handed out to the public by the current Miss England, Laura Coleman. Shop assistant Claire Guest, pictured above, said: "I took the order and was really pleased because it's nice to be given the opportunity to do something a bit different like this for such a special occasion."

"It was hard work but well worth it."

Five deny charges over fatal flat blaze

40-year-old woman who is the mother of the younger boy and a 37-year-old man who is his former stepfather – deny committing acts tending or intending to pervert the course of justice by making a false statement about the boy's whereabouts.

A 15-year-old girl has also denied making a false statement.

The jury of eight men and four women heard the pleas at Chelmsford Crown Court yesterday before they were sent home by the judge until today (Thursday).

Initially none of the defendants in the case could be named but as one of the boys – Carl Manton, of Long Banks, Harlow – has now turned 18 the judge made an order that he could be identified. However, the other four defendants still cannot be named for legal reasons.

Martin Levett, prosecuting, said the charges had been broken down into two parts – one against the boys and the other against the three other defendants. "One part concerns the two boys – murder, manslaughter and setting fire to a building killing one and causing serious brain damage to another," he said.

The other part concerned statements by the mother, stepfather and girl which, he said, were designed to put police off the scent.

The jury is expected to visit the scene of the fire tomorrow (Friday).

Miss Youngs (24) and Mr Chapple (27) were in their flat at Sherwood House, in Bush Fair, Harlow on May 4, 2005 when the empty property directly below was set on fire.

Both Miss Youngs and Mr Chapple were pulled unconscious from the burning building by firefighters. However, Miss Youngs never regained consciousness and died two days later in hospital, while Mr Chapple sustained severe brain damage and now requires 24-hour care.

Head's praise for design of 'super' school

THE public will get their first view of plans for a new 'super school' in Harlow when they go on display today (Thursday).

Four years after the relocation of Passmore School to the former Brays Grove School site, in Trayces Road, was first mooted, an artist's impression of the planned £20m building alongside blueprints for the scheme will be put on show at the start of a formal consultation process.

Passmore's headteacher Vic Goddard said: "I think the building looks fantastic and cannot fault the architects and developers.

"It will be a landmark building for the town and it will grace the gateway from the M11 well. It will be a school which will be fit for 21st century education.

"There will always be people who will have concerns about the project but I hope people realise this is a big investment in the young people of the town. I think this is going to make a big statement about Harlow in the future."

Designers have been busy working on the plans since January and are said to have worked closely with the school and its pupils in order to deliver the most suitable learning environment.

If all goes to schedule, a planning application will be submitted in June with a view to start building work early next year and the school opening in 2011.

The new school will initially serve 1,050 pupils but this will increase to 1,200.

However, not everyone is supportive of the project. Jim Rogers, of the Save Passmore Action Group, said: "Passmore had made remarkable progress over the last few years and it seems a great nonsense to take away an asset that will have untold worth to youngsters this side of Harlow and create something else half-a-mile away."

Representatives from Essex County Council, the contractors Willmott Dixon and architects Jestico and Whiles will be in attendance to discuss the design at the Park Inn Hotel, Southern Way, Harlow, from 3-7pm today.

The plan for Passmore

● Variety of sports facilities available for both school and community use, including a large indoor sports hall and floodlit all-weather sports pitch

● The whole building will be wi-fi enabled allowing students to access electronic learning during lessons and as part of independent learning at school or at home

● The design of the building will allow the community to access parts of the school such as the hall and technology suites out of school hours, but with the rest of the premises left secure

● State-of-the-art facilities relevant to a wide variety of subjects including photography, textiles and food

● Landscaping to maximise the use of outdoor space, creating quiet gardens, entrance boulevards and play areas

● Energy efficient and sustainable.

Nine arrests as police swoop in dawn raids

NINE people were arrested when police carried out a series of dawn raids in towns including Harlow.

Warrants were executed at a number of properties in the town as well as Bishop's Stortford and Sawbridgeworth on Tuesday in an operation targeting those suspected of vehicle crime and burglary.

Four people – three men aged 25, 24 and 17 and a woman aged 20 – were arrested in Harlow. A further five people were arrested in Bishop's Stortford and Sawbridgeworth.

Inspector Damien Kennedy, who led the raids, said: "I am really pleased with the outcome of this operation which has seen some very significant arrests.

"This initiative was carried out in response to burglary and vehicle crime and demonstrates our commitment to driving down crime."

It should also act as a warning to would-be criminals that East Herts is a no-go area and they will be caught and dealt with if they break the law."

Mother's warning over 'killer' clots

A WOMAN who survived two life-threatening blood clots is urging people to make themselves aware of the danger signs before it is too late.

Mum-of-three Diane Higgins (39), of Appleton Close, Harlow, was diagnosed with a blood clot on her lung 15 years ago. Earlier this year she felt a pain in her calf five days after a short hospital stay and returned to hospital to get it checked out.

"When I was examined by the doctors in accident and emergency it all became a bit of a whirlwind," she said. "I was absolutely devastated when I was diagnosed with another blood clot in my leg, especially knowing just how serious a clot like this could too easily become."

"By acting quickly I am sure that it prevented me from developing life-threatening complications and long-term health after-effects this time round."

Now, Mrs Higgins is backing a national campaign by the charity AntiCoagulation Europe which aims to make people aware of the symptoms of blood clots in order to save lives.

The campaign slogan is Stop the Clot – "blunt and to the point", said Mrs Higgins – and highlights the fact that blood clots can kill. It encourages people to request a risk assessment when they are admitted to hospital.

"You might think that you are wasting the nurse or doctor's time but it is just not worth taking the risk of getting a hospital acquired blood clot," said Mrs Higgins.

She still has a dull ache in her leg and is limited in the exercise she can take. She is not allowed to drive and is still signed off work.

"Now my husband and family are aware about the risks of blood clots they are obviously very concerned with what happened to me," she added.

"We all support raising awareness about the dangers of getting a blood clot while in hospital and urge everyone to remember to ask for a blood clot risk assessment so they do not become another blood clot statistic."

Sister is runner Will's marathon motivation

LONDON Marathon runner Will Shoults has set his sights on raising hundreds of pounds for the Breast Cancer Campaign when he takes part in Sunday's event.

After competing in last year's Great North Run, Mr Shoults, of Wedgewood Drive, Harlow, decided to step up to the full distance of 26.2 miles to support the charity.

He made his decision after his sister Maria King, of Barnmead, Harlow, was diagnosed with the disease at the beginning of last year

"Despite being diagnosed with breast cancer Maria has maintained a positive attitude throughout her treatment and continues to think of other family members even though she is fighting this disease," he said. "Her attitude is a huge motivation for me. By running in the London Marathon for Breast Cancer Campaign I hope to be able to help the 45,500 women who will be diagnosed with breast cancer in the UK this year."

Any Star readers prepared to sponsor Mr Shoults can do so by logging on to his website at www.justgiving.com/willsinlondon4maria.

Health chiefs consulting on neonatal care

PARENTS, residents and health care professionals in Harlow are being asked for their views on new proposals for improving specialist services for premature and sick babies in Essex.

Health chiefs are proposing improvements which they say will give both babies and families the best possible care in local hospitals as well as access to the highest level of specialised care if it is needed.

Sarah Dalton, chairman of the Essex Neonatal Care Review Clinical Development Group, said: "We know that we can improve specialist care for newborn babies even further in Essex in a way that will not only save lives but will mean better chances of a healthy life in the longer term and support for parents and families."

"Also, we can do more to support our local clinicians to realise their aspirations to provide the best possible care."

Consultation events are being held throughout the county, including Harlow, during this month and next.

For more information, including consultation documents and feedback forms, visit the neonatal pages at www.escg.nhs.uk where there are also details about the discussion events and a link to an on-line survey.

Volunteers are needed to help with house-to-house collections taking place this month.

Scope spokesman Henry Rowling said: "House-to-house fundraising – or putting envelopes through the doors of people who live nearby – is a really simple, quick and easy way to raise money for our vital work to help support disabled people."

"The money raised will support our work with disabled people, including the response service which offers free information and advice to disabled people and their families."

Every volunteer collector who takes part will be given a collection pack, which includes identification and a step-by-step guide on what to do. To volunteer, call 020 7619 7298.

Trust in need of dog walker

THE Cinnamon Trust, a charity which helps elderly people and the terminally ill care for their pets for as long as possible, is seeking volunteer dog walkers to help a pensioner in Harlow.

The trust has a national network of volunteers who assist when any aspect of day-to-day care for a pet poses a problem.

Some volunteers offer foster care for pets in their own homes, when the owner faces a short spell in hospital. The trust also provides a permanent sanctuary for companion animals who outlive their owners.

Young mum hoping her X-Factor dream will be Taylor-made

A TEENAGE mum is hoping to take the first steps on the road to fame and fortune when she auditions for The X Factor.

Melissa Bell (17) will be one of hundreds of hopefuls competing for a place in the televised auditions of the new series of the ITV hit show.

But Melissa, pictured above with her two-year-old son Taylor, may have her work cut out as she admits she doesn't like singing in front of people.

"I get very nervous but I am doing this for Taylor to try to give him a better life," she said.

Melissa, of Church Leys, Harlow, has been singing since the age of four.

She will audition in front of a panel of producers at the O2 on May 5. If she is successful she will go on to another audition which will decide whether she is good enough to showcase her talent in front of Simon Cowell and his fellow judges.

"I don't want to be like anyone else as I am myself; I have my own singing voice," she said. "I have no idea what I am going to be singing yet, I haven't thought that far ahead!"

She added: "My dad really encouraged me to do it and has so much faith in me; he helped me sign up for it. Even if I don't get passed the producers I am going to record a CD and send it to all the record companies."

Her father, Martin, said: "I really do think she has an excellent chance as she has a cracking voice. I am so proud. I have no doubt that her voice has the ability to take her to boot camp, if not further!"

Pub assault victim blinded in one eye

By CHRIS MOSS

moss@hertsexnews.co.uk

A MAN has been left blinded in one eye following a violent assault in a Harlow pub.

The unnamed 32-year-old victim was drinking at The Herald, in Broadley Road, on Friday evening when he became involved in a heated discussion with a group of men, one of whom punched him in the face.

The man returned home and a housemate called an ambulance. He was taken to Princess Alexandra Hospital where doctors treated his serious facial injury but were unable to prevent him from losing the sight in his right eye.

The victim was unable to give police a description of his attacker as he did not see the man clearly. Police are appealing for any witnesses to the incident to come forward.

Detective Kerstin Chissel said: "We know that there were a lot of people in the pub that night for a private party and I would ask anyone who was there to contact me and tell me the circumstances leading up to assault or what they witnessed."

"The man suffered a life-changing injury and we need to speak to those responsible."

Anyone with information about the assault should call Harlow CID on 0300 3334444 or Crimestoppers on 0800 555111.

New look for old sculpture

ONE of the Gibberd Garden's most striking sculptures has been restored to its former glory after experts warned the weather-beaten work of art was in danger of crumbling.

Gerda Rubinstein's Lucinda, an elegant fibreglass sculpture dating back to 1979, once again takes pride of place in the garden at the home of the late Harlow masterplanner Sir Frederick Gibberd in Marsh Lane, Harlow.

The German-born sculptress travelled from her home in Reigate to attend the official unveiling and garden marketing manager Gordon Whittle told the Star she was thrilled with the result.

"Gerda was very happy with the restoration," he said. "It's wonderful to see the sculpture returned to its former glory."

"It was one of Sir Frederick's favourites but it had unfortunately fallen prey to the elements."

Owner's plea after pet parrot escapes through a dog flap

THE distraught owner of a missing parrot has pleaded with Harlow residents to keep an eye out for her prized pet after it made a break for freedom.

Julie Branch, who has hand-reared the African Grey called Chook-Chook since birth, said it escaped through a dog flap in the back door of her home in Harberts Road last Tuesday.

The bird was spotted in a neighbour's back garden the following day but has not been seen since.

Mrs Branch fears Chook-Chook will struggle to survive in the wild and is worried it may have already been attacked by another animal.

"I haven't been able to sleep this past week as I've been so worried," she told the Star. "I'm really worried she's been attacked or has got lost."

"I would urge people to keep their eyes peeled for any unusual-looking birds."

"She has been micro-chipped so that if she's taken to a vet they will be able to identify her, but I would be grateful if anyone who may have seen her could get in touch with me as soon as possible."

Chook-Chook is grey with red tail feathers and white patches around her eyes and is missing feathers from her breast. If you think you may have spotted her call Mrs Branch on (01279) 420474.

Roadworks a step in right direction

SIR, I have just read the two letters in this Star paper moaning about the A414 widening and felt compelled to respond.

Whilst I agree that this widening will not instantly solve the congestion problems in Harlow, it is a step in the right direction and as such should be viewed as a platform towards achieving that goal.

This seems a far better use of public money than the damned bus lane which has been built and where we could have got a dualled road for not that much more money.

As the dual carriageway will now extend to the Southern Way roundabout into Harlow this should have the effect of keeping the Hastingwood roundabout clear. True, there will still be congestion but it will be further away from the M11 which is surely good news.

Ideally, the stretch of road between Southern Way and the Clock House roundabout should be dualled, too, to link up with the dual stretch toward Church Langley. I would also like to see a separate filter lane onto the northbound M11 which should further help congestion out of town, but I am sure that the existing work agreed will have a noticeable positive impact on the current congestion levels.

As for a public consultation, this should be kept for the really big things such as the second runway at Stansted. You have to sometimes let the people you elect actually make some decisions of their own. If you don't like it, vote for someone else.

Finally, I had to laugh at E.J Vine's comment that the M11 was built around the wrong side of Harlow. The M11 was intended to be a link to Stansted and Cambridge, not merely as a bypass for Harlow. Hopefully we will get a northern

Confused by roundabout markings

SIR, Has Essex County Council gone mad or thrown away the Highway Code? I refer to the way the roundabout at the junction A414 and Southern Way has been marked up.

I was going straight across that roundabout from Potter Street to Southern Way and got into the nearside lane as I would normally do. As I started to pull away a bus came round me on the outside lane and changed lanes half way across, nearly forcing me into the traffic island.

The driver shouted that I was in the wrong lane. When I checked the lane markings I found a left turn arrow on the nearside lane but on the outside lane a straight across and right turn arrow combined.

Surely this is confusing the issue. Am I wrong in thinking that if I am turning left or going straight across I should be in that lane and not in the outside lane as commonly practised by a lot of the idiots currently driving round the roads in Harlow today.

And if I was going to join the motorway, I would drive up Potter Street and join by the petrol station.

Tony Treacher
Moorfield, Harlow

SIR, Those driven to despair by the the new roundabout markings should count rather than thinking in terms of straight ahead.

Travelling south into Harlow and going straight ahead towards the town centre is, in fact, the third exit of four so the right hand lane is appropriate.

The same should apply travelling north at the Sainsbury's roundabout. Nearly everyone stays in the left lane to go straight ahead, despite it being the last exit. Anyone who takes the correct right hand lane risks being abused.

Out of interest, I notice the police use the correct lane but then I don't suppose people wind down their windows and shout at them!

They're to blame for town's shame

SIR, Having read your front page report headlined "Parking Sham" (Star, April 9), it would have been more appropriate to be headlined Parking Shame.

The council is killing the shopping areas at Old Harlow, The Stow and Bush Fair because people cannot afford to go to work while paying parking charges of more than £100 per month.

Shame on these self-serving councillors targeting the old, lonely and vulnerable in our town. Shame on this council for deliberately making the very people incapable of fighting back even more vulnerable.

I hope none of them ever find themselves in such a position and that they sleep well at night in their well-feathered nests. I don't because I am so ashamed of my town.

Jill Durham

Tory axe falling on our facilities

SIR, The strong active Labour team backed by the residents of Harlow are furious with the cutbacks the Tory-controlled council has imposed on our cultural facilities.

After all the hard work over many years by members past and present to get these facilities in place, along comes the party with the axe (we all know who they are) and chop it beyond a functional purpose.

Predictions state that Harlow's population could double in size over the next 20 years and our facilities must expand for the regeneration and growth of the population.

The decline of Harlow under the Tories is obvious for all to see.

Paying extra to use credit card

SIR, It looks like Harlow Council is squeezing every penny it can out of the people of Harlow.

For the past year I have been paying my council tax each month via my credit card as I find it easier to balance my finances. Last week I went to pay as usual but was told there was a two per cent levy if I paid by my card.

In these times you would think the council would be grateful for me paying my bill and not having to chase me for payment. It's just another way to make money.

Grass verges are a disgrace

SIR, I have not written to the Star before but I would be obliged if you could print this letter regarding the grass verges in Church Langley.

At the moment they are a disgrace, a sea of yellow dandelions. Why isn't something being done about this problem.

I cannot do my garden so I have a professional company attend to feed and weed and it has cost me a great amount of money.

The dandelion situation in Church Langley is horrendous. Why isn't Keir Harlow treating this problem of weeds as once these things go to seed and blow away in the wind nobody has control.

I thought green verges were supposed to be green, not yellow.

Ballet plaudits for queen Terri

SIR May I thank Sophie Warner for her kind and generous praise of the Harlow Ballet Association's Nutcracker at The Playhouse (Star, April 16) and also thank your newspaper for its loyal support of the arts in Harlow and the HBA in particular.

I would like to make one correction – and apology! On Monday, April 13, when I believe Ms Warner came to see the show, the role of The Snow Queen was performed by Miss Terri Cowdery. This decision was made by the choreographer of the Snowflakes scene after the programmes had gone to press.

So my apologies to Ms Warner, who could not possibly have known that she was watching Terri Cowdery "stealing the show" and to Terri, who richly deserved the praise lavished on the Snow Queen.

We don't need 'nanny' advice

SIR, I recently received a publication called Be Smart Be Safe Handbook. I received an identical one last year.

It was issued by a planning group of Essex County Council which commissioned a writer, a designer and an illustrator for this glossy book. The printing and postage must have been considerable.

Do the elderly of Harlow (to whom this is addressed) feel that they have benefited, I wonder. Or perhaps they think that they can cope without the comic illustrations and the puzzles which could be solved by a not-very-bright seven-year-old.

Have the elderly in the posh areas of Essex also been targeted? If the recipient is suffering from dementia, he or she is unlikely to read it while for those who are not the advice is uncalled for.

What the elderly need is a decent pension, good quality care if needed and less of this authoritarian nanny advice. We have to endure the ageist attitude of British society without having to pay for it through our council tax.

Lawful to ban hooded tops

SIR, Further to the issue of banning hooded clothing in the Harvey Centre, I found a recent cutting from the Times Law Reports which states: "ASBO ban on hoods is lawful" (December 22 at Queen's Bench Divisional Court).

It states a ban on hooded clothing is permissible if used in conjunction with an ASBO order. Therefore, if an ASBO order is made against specific individuals it can include the specific direction that they don't wear hooded clothing in the Harvey Centre.

It makes no provision for banning hooded clothing on all customers. A different piece of legislation would have to be used to do that.

Thieves target car 'valuables'

DRIVERS are again being warned against leaving valuables on display in their cars after thieves made off with a haul of goods in two incidents last week.

A white Citroen Saxo parked in Northbrooks was broken into and a Tom Tom satellite navigation system, a mobile phone holder, passport, gold sovereign chain, Nike jogging bottoms and a black and white top were taken.

A teenager was later seen breaking into a grey Toyota Corolla in Fullers Mead before making off with a sat nav, laptop and golf balls.

Harlow police spokeswoman Denise Harvey said: "We advise people not to leave valuable items on display, even when leaving the vehicle for a short period of time."

"Being a victim of car crime is extremely distressing, not only losing valuable items but the stress and cost in repairing the damage, always remove items from display when leaving your vehicle."

Screen team to give out advice

SPECIALIST screening practitioners will be in Harlow town centre on Saturday to offer advice and information about bowel cancer.

The session forms part of the NHS Bowel Cancer Screening Programme designed to reduce the disease, which is the second most common cause of cancer deaths in the UK.

The team of specially trained personnel from West Essex PCT will be in the Harvey Centre from 10am-4pm.

Held in custody

A MAN charged with wounding with intent following a stabbing at Harlow bus station in January has appeared at Chelmsford Crown Court.

Zack Atwell (21), of Brays Mead, Harlow pleaded not guilty on Monday to wounding Samuel Boon with intent

He was remanded in custody until his trial which is due to start on June 15.

Town centre patrols aim to assist police

A SELF-employed computer consultant is seeking to bolster Harlow's thin blue line by recruiting a civilian team to help tackle anti-social behaviour in the town centre.

Aran Black (36), of Bishopsfield, wants to set up patrols to keep watch outside pubs and night-clubs to prevent trouble.

He said his team's role will be largely passive but would resort to making citizens arrests if called on to do so.

Mr Black has started a Facebook group called Harlow Residents Protecting Harlow in which he said: "In response to the complaint that Harlow taxi marshals and police are not adequately protecting Harlow town centre users, I have decided to set up a community patrol to do the job of these marshals and police."

"In recent months, there have been too many very violent attacks in the town and I am very concerned that Harlow is spiralling out of control."

By OLIVER GODFREY
star@hertsessexnews.co.uk

Speaking to the Star this week, he insisted: "We will be acting as normal citizens, wandering around helping people who are lost, drunk or vulnerable and acting as an extra set of eyes for the police."

"If we see any violent behaviour or other crime, such as vandalism, we will step in to try and prevent any further damage from being done."

Mr Black said he and any recruits who join him will at first be in the town centre on Friday and Saturday nights, patrolling on additional nights if the scheme proves successful.

Harlow district commander Chief Inspector Nick Morris said: "Harlow police are proud of the robust stance we take patrolling and protecting the night time economy and we work well with partners in the town centre and we are getting good feedback regarding the work of the taxi marshals."

"We have offered Mr Black the opportunity to work with us with any issue he feels he can assist us with."

Robbie marks his 44th year at firm

A LONG-serving worker has this week celebrated his 44th year of employment with the same company.

Robbie Criddle (62) of The Dashes, Harlow, joined Volkswagen Abridge, in Edinburgh Way, as a trainee service technician in April 1965 and enjoyed working there so much he has been there ever since.

"When I started all those years ago, I certainly never thought I would end up spending my whole career at the same place, but I really do love working here," he said.

"Until recently it was a family company and it was always the type of place where you knew even the chairman by his first name and that was the way I liked it."

"The company still has a family atmosphere and I think that is what makes it such a nice place to work."

"There are 12 of us who have all been here for at least 10 years, two of them have been here for more than 30 years and four have been here more than 25 years. It is quite impressive really."

Mr Criddle, who has two children and four grandchildren, has three more years left before his official retirement but plans to carry on working.

Abridge Harlow brand manager Frank Plant said: "Robbie has made a great contribution to the company and is a pleasure to work with. We hope he will be with us for many more years to come."

Green Shield workers were 'like one big happy family'

WE recently asked for your memories about Green Shield Trading Company, in River Way, which we billed as one of the best remembered firms in Harlow.

Responses have been flooding in, one of which was from reader Jean Lawson, who wrote to say she used to work in the building in the 1960s.

"I was on the postal side of it, which meant sending out the parcels to all the customers all over the towns it covered.

"It was a very good company to work for. We all felt like a big happy family working there.

"I was there until it closed down. During the last six months, we just went and clocked in and just sat at the door to make sure than nobody came in who wasn't supposed to.

"It was very sad when we went there for the last time."

Keep sending your Green Shield Trading Company memories to Nostalgia at 6 West Gate, Harlow, CM20 1JW, or email them to sassoonl@hertsessexnews.co.uk.

Water way to enhance park

By LOUISE SASSOON

HARLOW Town Park has long been a popular attraction with residents, as much for its water features as anything else.

The construction of the park's water gardens began in 1964, transforming the once flat area which featured water cress beds into a spectacle complete with three pools linked by a steady flow of water.

The surrounding area was landscaped to create grassy mounds and rockeries, with trees and bushes planted to complete the oasis.

The work was the talk of the town, costing what was then a rather substantial £32,700, but the full impact would not be appreciated for at least another 30 years, until the plantings had matured.

Regular correspondent Ron Bill was kind enough to bring us a cutting from the Harlow Citizen on October 30, 1964.

BEFORE AND AFTER:

Above, working getting under way in 1964. Right, the water gardens as they became more established (photos: The Museum Of Harlow)

"Shifting sands, the job of bending gardens with the existing landscape while making the surrounds hard enough to take everyday wear and tear, and the delicate operation of laying pipes in the hillside to tap spring water to the gardens from a natural spring near the paddling pool, all add up to make it a major engineering project," it reads.

"But it will take time for the full effect of landscaping and panning to be realised; trees and rockeries surrounding the gardens and screening them from the Park Lane cottages will take decades to mature."

The water gardens are now fully mature and still popular with youngsters to watch the fish and other wildlife for which it is home.

Do you have any memories of the water gardens at the Town Park? Were you a resident of one of the Park Lane cottages while the construction was taking place or maybe you had a hand in the work? Perhaps you just have memories of visiting the area once it had opened?

Write to us at 6 West Gate, Harlow, CM20 1JW or email sassoonl@hertsessexnews.co.uk.

BLIND WOMAN'S HOME RAIDED BY CHILDREN

Two heartless children conned their way into an elderly spinster's home and ransacked her house looking for money. Nothing was taken, but the 74-year-old who is nearly blind and lives on her own in Old Harlow, was left shaken and suffered delayed shock.

SCHOOLS BRACED FOR STRIKE BY TEACHERS

Harlow schools are bracing themselves for next Wednesday's one-day strike by teachers in major unions. St Mark's secondary may be forced to close for part of the week and Brays Grove has already cancelled its swimming gala and athletics events.

PROTESTORS CHAINED TO SUPERMARKET TROLLEYS

The management of Sainsbury's in the Harvey Centre called police to escort members of the Harlow Animal Rights Protection Group from the premises after six members chained themselves to trolleys in front of egg stands in protest against battery-farmed eggs.

ALL CLEAR AT MITCHELLS

MP supports clampdown on clampers

ROGUE wheel clampers operating in the Harlow area could soon be driven out of business under new proposals put forward by the Government.

That's the view of town MP Bill Rammell, who this week voiced his support for plans to introduce compulsory licensing for wheel clamping companies.

His comments follow complaints from constituents who have told him they have been illegally clamped while parking in the town.

"The licensing of individual wheel clampers has gone a long way to reducing criminality and

By LOUISE SASSOON
News Editor
sassoonl@hertsexnews.co.uk

improving standards in the industry," said Mr Rammell.

"However, I know that people in Harlow want further action against the small minority of clamping companies who indulge in such practices, including unclear signage and excessive fees."

He said his attention was drawn to the problem in November last year when he was contacted by a Church Langley resident who wrote to him after his daughter's car was clamped and towed away from a parking space. She had to pay £520 to get her car back, despite the fact she had parked in a permitted area.

Under measures announced by Home Secretary Jacqui Smith on Monday, wheel clamping companies would have to gain a licence before they could operate.

"The Government is looking at introducing a scheme for compulsory licensing of clamping companies with clear industry standards that they have to meet," said Mr Rammell.

"Rogue wheel clampers shouldn't be able to get away with unacceptable practices in Harlow and I will respond immediately to the Government's consultation, putting Harlow's case forward."

Let's celebrate, by George!

CARDS celebrating St George's Day have been sent to every household in Harlow asking them to back a campaign to make it a public holiday.

Conservative Parliamentary hopeful Robert Halfon said he wanted to drum up enough support to present a petition calling for April 23 to be a national day of celebration.

"A team of us were out and about in Broad Walk on Saturday handing out St George's Day cards and posters," he said. "They were so popular we gave out thousands in just a few hours."

"What was great about our efforts was not just the popularity of the St George's Day materials but that they were taken with great enthusiasm by young and old alike."

He added: "It is wonderful that there is a renewed sense of English identity, that everyone is so proud to be English and not ashamed to celebrate it."

St George's Day will be marked in the town on Saturday with a parade to honour the Essex Yeomary which will be granted the Freedom of Entry to Harlow.

Other events, including a St George's Day workshop at the Museum of Harlow, are also taking place.

Thief stole cash from PAH and dog stadium

A THIEF who stole money from two locations in Harlow during an Essex-wide crime spree has been sentenced to 14 months imprisonment.

However, Michael Weaver (26) walked free from Chelmsford Crown Court court as he had already served seven months in custody.

Weaver, of no fixed address, pleaded guilty to a total of 17 charges. The court heard he was driven around the county by police to point out the sites of his crimes which included Harlow's Princess Alexandra Hospital and the greyhound stadium.

Prosecutor Jane Oldfield said Weaver, who also admitted two burglaries, had been sought for another matter at the time of his arrest.

She told the court that as he was being handcuffed the left wrist of the police officer was bent back and broken.

Frances Ridout, representing Weaver, said in mitigation he had committed the offences out of a need to survive but after being arrested had co-operated with police.

Shop centre loses another duckling

A SIXTH duckling from the Water Gardens in Harlow town centre has died.

The tiny bird was found by Robyn Fryer in one of the ornamental ponds which had been partially drained for cleaning.

Robyn took the duckling to her aunt, Amanda King, who tried to nurse it back to health but it died later that night.

It happened the week after the Star reported that five ducklings, which have become an unofficial mascot for the shopping centre, were found dead after planks which had been placed in the ponds to help to help them get out had been removed.

Ms King (45), of Morning-

tons, Harlow said: "Robyn was so upset when she came to me with this poorly duckling. At first I thought it was dead because it was in such a bad state, but we tended to him and placed him in an incubator. He slowly came back to life."

Ms King's son Stefan (13), fed the duckling, which they named Charlie, moist bread and gave him water from a spoon. "I can't believe he died because he seemed so well, swimming about in our sink," she said.

The company responsible for the Water Gardens is currently consulting the Royal Society for the Protection of Birds to discuss ways of ensuring the safety of the ducklings.

Biker (70) hurt in car collision

AN elderly man suffered serious injuries after his motorbike was involved in a collision with a car.

The 70-year-old, who lives in Enfield, was riding along the B181 at Epping Green near Jack's Hatch on Saturday afternoon when the accident occurred.

He was taken to Princess Alexandra Hospital where he was treated for internal bleeding and leg injuries.

The car was being driven by a woman from Harlow.

Police have appealed for witnesses to contact the Chigwell Road Policing Unit on (01279) 621804.

Why our hospice needs YOUR help

MONEY raised from this year's Midnight Walk will help to fund St Clare Hospice's day therapy service which sees 36 patients a week.

The service is just like a home-from-home with a lounge where patients can sit and chat and a dining room where they can enjoy arts and crafts, play games and have lunch together.

"Patients come for one day a week over a 12 week period," said service manager Beth Burton. "While they are with us patients have the chance to talk to others with similar illnesses, discussing their experiences and offering each other support."

"The service not only provides the chance for social interaction but also our patients can receive complementary therapies such as aromatherapy, reflexology or massage. These treatments are brilliant for relieving anxiety and stress."

This year the organisers of the Midnight Walk have set a fundraising target of £120,000. If that is reached it could help to extend the day therapy service.

"I would like it to grow to offer a wider range of creative and engaging ways of caring for our patients and for the service to continue to be a haven for people during what is always a busy week of hospital trips and doctor and nurse visits," said Beth.

The day service is just one of the ways in which St Clare cares for the people of West

Essex and across the border in East Herts. It relies heavily on the local community taking part in events like the Midnight Walk to help it raise the £1.75m it needs each year.

This year's Midnight Walk – which takes place on Saturday, June 20 – is set to be even bigger and more pink than last year! A lot more is being planned to entertain walkers before they set off and there will be team prizes for the most sponsorship raised and other challenges.

Local firm Raytheon have kindly donated two cases of pink Champagne as team prizes.

Sign up today and help to paint the town pink

HUNDREDS of people have already registered to take part in this year's Midnight Walk but hundreds more are needed if the £120,000 target is to be reached.

Tracy Meale, event fundraiser for St Clare, said: "We have had lots of people sign up but entries have dropped slightly this week, even though we have heard from lots of people saying they are planning to take part."

"We would love to see the sign-up forms flooding in next week or people wanting to take part can sign up on our website."

The 10km walk starts in Harlow town centre follows a planned route along the town's streets and cycle paths.

It is open to both men and women as well as children aged over 14. Those aged 14 and 15 must be accompanied by a responsible adult who is registered to take part in the walk.

"We want to make this year even bigger than last year's hugely successful night," said Tracy. "Why not get a group of friends together and sign up to have a fun night and paint the town pink!"

Amazing place to discover a fir tree

A MAN in Russia has amazed doctors after they found a tiny fir tree growing inside one of his lungs.

Artyom Sidorkin (28) became really worried about his health after he started suffering severe chest pains and coughing up blood. When doctors took X-rays they spotted something growing in one of his lungs and decided to operate.

But when he was taken to a hospital in the Urals region of Russia to undergo routine surgery to get remove the growth, they were astonished to find it was a tiny fir tree! The 5cm tall sapling was perfectly formed and appeared to be growing inside him.

Surgeon Vladimir Kamashev said: "The branch was green, as if it had just been taken from the wood. It's still a mystery how the tree got in there."

One theory is that Artyom – who studies plants for a living – accidentally breathed in a small branch while he was working in the woods. Others believe he may have breathed in a seed which then grew into a tree inside his body.

But Artyom doesn't think that's a reasonable explanation

He said: "For plants to be able to grow they need light, water and carbon dioxide. Therefore, plants cannot use human tissue as they cannot process it."

But he may not have too wait too long for an explanation. Part of his lung, along with the tiny tree, has been kept to be studied further by scientists.

Ward poll a first test for Tories

CANDIDATES have been busy canvassing potential voters ahead of next Thursday's Staple Tye by-election in Harlow.

Voters in the ward will have the choice of four candidates. They are, in alphabetical order, Daniel Balding (UK Independence Party), of The Hides, Lorraine Calderella (Conservative), of Waterhouse Moor, Dennis Palmer (Labour), of Lower Meadow, and John Strachan, (Liberal Democrat) of The Briers.

Although the outcome of the poll will not tip the balance of power at the Civic Centre, the contest for the seat - vacated by former Tory councillor David Kirtton - is being viewed by some as a referendum on the Tories' record since taking control of the town last year. The Star invited each candidate to put their case to the voters in their own words.

LORRAINE CALDERELLA
Conservative Party

The key issue I have been campaigning on is tackling the increase in anti-social behaviour we have been experiencing in the Staple Tye area.

This has been something which has come up time and time again on the doorstep and I can promise residents I will work closely with police and other agencies to combat the problem.

Obviously, some people have also expressed their concerns about some of the cutbacks the council has recently been forced to make elsewhere in the town, but I think it's important to understand that the Conservatives have had their work cut out dealing with some very serious financial problems inherited from the previous Labour/Liberal Democrat administration.

Only the Conservatives can lead Harlow through the dark days of a recession while ensuring that struggling council taxpayers are not hit in the pocket.

I will do all I can to bring the concerns of Staple Tye residents to the table if elected.

DENNIS PALMER
Labour Party

I have lived in Harlow for 52 years now and have seen the best and worst of this town, but what the Tories are doing to residents now by making such drastic cutbacks to vital services is unforgivable.

I can promise I will do my very best to fight against the cuts for the benefit of Staple Tye residents and the town as a whole and make sure the Tories take responsibility for what they have done rather than blaming all their problems on the previous administration.

The feedback I have got from the doorstep is that people are becoming increasingly disappointed at the way the town is being run and it's time to send a clear message of discontent to the administration by voting out the Tories in Staple Tye.

Sometimes people ask me why I want to take on the challenge of becoming a councillor at the age of 75 and my answer is always that reaching retirement age does not mean you have reached your expiry date. I am more determined than ever to do my very best for the people of Staple Tye."

JOHN STRACHAN
Liberal Democrat Party

The people of Staple Tye deserve someone who will put them first, not their own ego or party politics.

From May until December last year, myself and the team held weekly roving surgeries, listening, talking, knocking on doors and doing literally hundreds of pieces of casework for people.

The Tories have cut our services and forced parking charges upon us, while blaming everybody else for their ineptitude. They have stated the "black hole" was caused by the previous administration, yet according to the Audit Commission and the council's own figures they had a balanced budget when they took over. So what have they done with it? Given tens of thousands in pay rises to top officers and wasted who knows what on a court case, only to be told what everybody else knew already!

If the people of Staple Tye want someone who will work hard for them and want to send a clear message to the administration that they were elected to listen to people's concerns, then there is only one real choice as Labour will never win here.

are elected to serve.

I will never lie to residents and am not the sort of person who will make promises I know I can't keep.

I am passionate and determined and will work hard for the benefit of everyone in the ward to ensure they have someone who is willing to go the extra mile on their behalf.

If the people of Staple Tye really want to see change and start to make a difference to how this town is being run, they can rest assured I am the right man for the job.

DANIEL BALDING
UK Independence Party

Some of the people I've spoken to on the doorstep are not happy with the way the Tories are running Harlow.

It's clear to me they want to see real change, not just in their neighbourhood but across the town as a whole.

If the people of Staple Tye vote for me to represent them I will always put their concerns above party politics as I believe local councillors should be the voices of the communities they

A most royal day

LEAPFROG: Children held a party and signed a card to send to the Queen for her 83rd birthday. Youngsters took part in a day of activities to learn about the British monarch and her role.

Nursery manager Louise Christie said: "The monarchy is an integral part of the UK's past, present and future, and Queen Elizabeth's birthday is a great opportunity to teach the little ones all about the Royal Family."

Taste of school life to come

MARK HALL: The Easter break might have been a chance for some children to relax and forget about school, but for pupils at Mark Hall the two-week holiday was an opportunity for them to brush up on learning and practical skills.

More than 100 Year 11 students went in for a variety of lessons to tidy up and finish coursework or to squeeze in a little extra GCSE revision.

More than 50 Year 10 students prepared for some important GCSE module exams, while Year 9 used the time to enrich their experience in the core subjects of English, science and maths.

Meanwhile, prospective pupils were invited along to try a range of activities to help acclimatise them to the secondary school environment.

Organiser Alan Price said: "For these students, many fears about starting the 'big school' and the worries that often accompany that huge move will now have been allayed. I was delighted with the response from Year 6 students and the success of this new venture."

In line for award

(photo: XL9KFXFX/03)

HARLOW FIELDS: Pupils, parents and staff are celebrating after the school's Home School Association was named as one of 14 finalists in a national competition.

The Wheels Around Town fundraiser saw pupils ride a section of Harlow's cycle network using bikes, pushchairs, wheelchairs, scooters and even shopping trolleys to raise money for a new minibus. Now the event, which generated more than £600, has been shortlisted in the National Confederation of Parent Teacher Associations' Gold Star Rewards scheme, the winners of which will be announced next week.

Night of achievement

STEWARDS:

Pupils' successes were celebrated at the school's annual presentation evening.

The theme was 'striving to achieve your ambitions' and the occasion saw past pupils return to celebrate outstanding exam results last summer.

A total of 121 pupils received prizes, including awards for attendance and international achievement. MP Bill Rammell was guest speaker.

Charity toddling day

KIDDI CARU:

Toddlers did what they do best when they toddled around the Church Langley Way nursery to raise money for children's charity Barnardo's.

The event saw 21 children complete a specially designed circuit, raising more than £100 in the process.

Glorious Good Wood

The elegant Royal Oak range

From the aubergine coloured richness of Mango to the blonde, bronze and harvest tints of British Oak, wood brings with it a riot of sensual colour, pattern and texture and a warmth that invites the hand to touch and the eye to linger. It's a material that's played its part in more or less every furniture movement the world has seen and continues to do so today.

Because the raw material is capable of creating many shapes and delicate detail, it's limited only by the imagination of the craftsmen who fashion it. So we can have the clean-lined style of the mango wood Java dining table and the lovely sweeping curves of the classic French arts and crafts Toledo bed with its complementary rattan foot and headboards. The warm expansive look of the Havana bedroom comes from plantation grown and recycled timber creating a simple shape that invites us to relax.

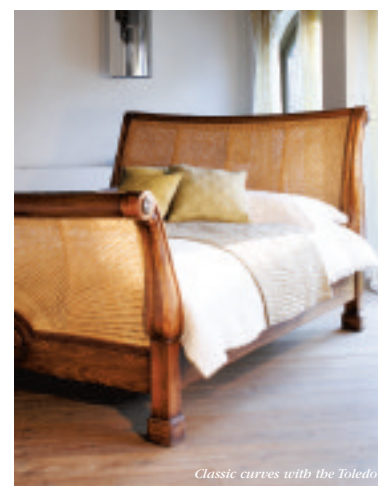

A key change in the way we respond to its use has been how we grow and manage the forests which give us the raw materials for our furniture. As the world has become more understanding of the impact of deforestation, our attitudes and practices have evolved accordingly to suit environmental needs not just personal taste.

Fishpools is conscious of the global need to take a responsible approach to the production and management of forestation issues. We are striving to source some of our collections from well-managed and constantly re-stocked plantations that also provide work and education for the local population. Nearer to home the Forestry Commission ensures that the European woods used by the manufacturers whose products we stock are also managed to continue to be available in abundance.

So visit our store to see for yourself just how versatile and pleasing wood can be. You're in for a feast for the eyes, hands and soul.

Yvonne's first book exudes sax appeal

By CHRIS MOSS

moss@hertsexnews.co.uk

A YOUNG Harlow author hopes to prove she has the literary X-Factor with the publication of her feelgood debut novel next month.

Shop assistant Yvonne Marrs (26), of Long Banks, has dreamt of becoming a writer since childhood and has poured her twin passions for words and music into When The Sax Man Plays: Part 1 - Making It, a story of triumph against adversity partly inspired by the meteoric rise to fame of former X-Factor contestant Leona Lewis.

"I was really inspired by the classic triumph-against-all-the-odds stories of people like Leona Lewis, who went from being a receptionist to an international superstar almost overnight," said Yvonne.

"There's something of that 'never say die' attitude in my main character, Jason, and I've obviously put a lot of myself and my own situation into the book."

The story follows the exploits of music teacher Jason Botelli, a young and extraordinarily gifted saxophonist struggling to fit into his new role as head of music at a prestigious - if somewhat snooty - London College.

By night, the jazz maverick blows like Coltrane at Fats' Jazz Club and by day he teaches and wows the students with his talent - but when he decides to put together a band of students for the college's annual talent show, he comes up against all sorts of unforeseen problems.

With only four weeks until the qualifying rounds, he has to assemble a band, choose the right music and rehearse - all the while trying to overcome the emotional dramas, tantrums and ego clashes threatening to derail his fledgling group.

The book is due to be published on May 11 and Yvonne said she had been greatly encouraged by the number of orders online retailer Amazon.co.uk has already taken.

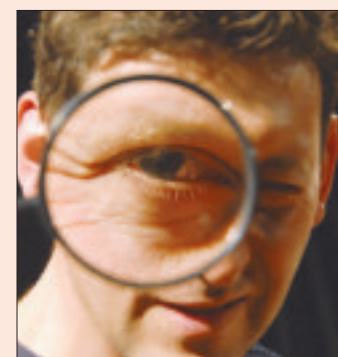

"I've always dreamt of being a writer ever since I can remember, and the publication of my debut novel is the first step for me towards the realisation of that dream.

"I envisaged this book to be the first in a trilogy and I've already completed the follow-up and am currently about two-thirds of the way through writing the third novel in the series, so there's plenty more to come!"

When The Sax Man Plays: Part 1 - Making It is published by Melrose Books (ISBN 978 190656168 0) and is available online from www.amazon.co.uk, www.lanterntower.com and www.waterstones.co.uk.

EYE FOR DRAMA: Ian Stacey in Gladly Otherwise, among Harlow Theatre Company's one-act play festival

DRAMA Harlow Theatre Company begins a three-night festival of one-act plays at Victoria Hall Theatre tonight (Thursday) at 8pm. With highlights including Harold Pinter's gritty and uncompromising One For The Road and Michael Frayn's hilarious Black & Silver, each evening promises to offer something for all tastes. Tickets are £7.50 (£6 concs) from (01279) 420062.

MUSIC The snappily dressed Dr Teeth Big Band swings into The Playhouse tomorrow (Friday) night for an evening of infectious swing, jive, boogie woogie and ska. The concert begins at 8pm and tickets are £12 (£10 conc) from (01279) 431945.

MUSIC For those who missed out on tickets for AC/DC's sold-out performance at the O2 Arena last week, you can catch the next best thing at The Playhouse on Saturday when top tribute band Live/Wire rock the auditorium with classics including Highway To Hell, Whole Lotta Rosie and Back In Black. The gig starts at 8pm and tickets are £14 (£12 conc) from (01279) 431945.

MUSIC Young Prague musicians the Pavel Haas Quartet bring their stunning repertoire of classical Czech music to The Playhouse on Sunday as part of the theatre's Music In The Round season. Including works by Haas and Janáček, the show begins at 3pm and tickets are £12 from (01279) 431945.

ART One of Harlow's longest-established amateur art groups is staging a fascinating new exhibition at the Gibberd Gallery in the Civic Centre. Doors, Gates and other Portals marks what members of the Harlow Society of Art believe to be the group's golden anniversary and aptly focuses on individual interpretations of transition expressed through a diverse range of styles and materials. The exhibition runs until this weekend and admission is free.

WIN Pair of tickets to a divine musical

IT is 17 years since the movie Sister Act starring Whoopi Goldberg became an international blockbuster, grossing over $230,000,000 worldwide.

It told the story of disco diva Deloris Van Cartier who, after witnessing a murder, is put in protective custody in the one place the cops are sure she won't be found - a convent! Despite her objections to the austere way of life and her new name of Sister Mary Clarence, she finds a role as an unlikely choir mistress. Under her instruction, she inspires a group of loveable, if tuneless, nuns to become a lean, mean singing machine and discovers much more about herself on the way.

Now the producers of hit musical Hairspray have teamed up with Ms Whoopi Goldberg in her new role as co-producer, to introduce a brand new star to the West End stage.

The musical comedy Sister Act opens at the London Palladium next month and we are giving you the chance to win one of FIVE pairs of tickets to the performance on Wednesday, May 13.

Taking over as the new Deloris is Patina Miller while presiding over the convent in the coveted role of Mother Superior is TV and theatre favourite Sheila Hancock, who was last seen on stage in her Olivier Award-winning role in Cabaret.

Alan Menken, eight-time Academy Award winner for his film scores such as Beauty and The Beast, The Little Mermaid and Enchanted, has penned a brand new disco-inspired score for the show.

All you have to do to stand a chance of winning a pair of tickets is answer the simple question in the coupon on the right and follow the entry instructions. Alternatively, you can enter via our website at www.harlowstar.co.uk by clicking on 'Competitions' in the Lifestyle section. Under competition name enter 'Harlow Star/Sister Act'.

Even if you are not one of our lucky winners you can still book tickets by visiting www.sisteractthemusical.com or calling 0844 412 2704 (booking fees apply).

COMPETITION TERMS & CONDITIONS

Hack finds suicide is a far from painless story

ADAPTED from the six-part 2003 BBC mini-series created by Paul Abbott, State Of Play is a timely political thriller about the tug of war between morality and sensationalist headlines.

The skeletal narrative of the award-winning six-hour television programme is untouched, transplanted from the corridors of power in London to the newsrooms and boardrooms of Washington DC.

Screenwriters Matthew Michael Carnahan, Tony Gilroy and Billy Ray have been forced to excise subplots and entire characters to shoehorn as much of the intrigue and double-cross as possible into two taut hours.

As a result, there are several noticeable holes in

STATE OF PLAY

certificate 12A, running time 2h07m

the plot, which necessitate some Herculean leaps of logic for the characters to reach their dramatic conclusions, especially in the serpentine final 30 minutes.

Director Kevin Macdonald (The Last King Of Scotland) punctuates the snappy dialogue with some terrific, suspenseful set pieces, including a shocking turn of events in a hospital room and a deadly game of cat and mouse in a subterranean car park.

The film opens with US Congressman Stephen Collins (Ben Affleck), the charismatic chairman of a televised committee hearing into defence budgets, breaking down as he relates the suicide of his staff assistant

The media swarms and gossipmongers seize on the possibility of an extra-marital affair between the congressman and his beautiful aide and as speculation intensifies, Collins confesses to an affair and begs forgiveness from his wife.

Hard-nosed Washington Globe editor Cameron Lynne (Helen Mirren) assigns veteran reporter Cal McAffrey (Russell Crowe, pictured above), a one-time friend of the senator, to cover the story and he gradually uncovers a deadly conspiracy which casts doubt on the theory that the assistant committed suicide.

As well as its core mystery, the film also takes a nostalgic look at print journalism and finds it under threat from the internet revolution and the phenomenon of blogging, leaving McAffrey increasingly looking like the last of a breed.

Wolverine feels a claw to arms

X-MEN ORIGINS: WOLVERINE

certificate 12A, running time 1h47m

HUGH Jackman sharpens his retractable adamantium claws in this spin-off from the X-Men films, expanding the back story of the franchise's most popular and enigmatic character.

James Howlett (Jackman) and his best friend Victor Creed (Liev Schreiber) abandon mid-19th century Canada to take up arms in the American Civil War, fighting on behalf of the north.

Both are blessed with mutant powers and the friends (aka Wolverine and Sabretooth) endure the hell of war unscathed, going on to prove their worth against the Germans in two world wars before supporting Uncle Sam in Vietnam.

This final tour of duty leads to a spell in a covert US government operation alongside other gifted mutants, including gravity-defying sharp-shooter David North aka Agent Zero (Daniel Henney), the shape-and-mass-shifting Fred Dukes aka The Blob (Kevin Durand), master fighter Wade Wilson aka Deadpool (Ryan Reynolds), teleporter extraordinaire John Wraith aka Kestrel (Will I Am) and Barnell Bohusk aka Beak (Dominic Monaghan), who can make technology do his bidding.

Compelled to leave the fold, Wolverine (now named Logan) tries to forge a life away from the program but the men in charge refuse to let their prize asset leave without a fight.

Six years pass until shadowy former commander General Stryker shows up and asks Logan to come back and be a part of a new Weapon X project.

Logan refuses but Creed shows up and murders his girlfriend; burning for revenge, he accepts Stryker's offer to be infused with adamantium so he can become effectively indestructible.

FORGET the dreaded annual pilgrimage to IKEA this May Bank Holiday weekend – why not down tools and indulge your ears instead by partaking in a spot of gleeful rock 'n' roll rebellion in the charming town of Bishop's Stortford?

I refer, of course, to the imaginatively titled Stortford Music Festival and before jingoistic Harlovians accuse me of being in cahoots with ne'er do wells from o'er the border, relax – you'll be pleased to discover a choice selection of propa' 'Arlow and Sawbo bands sprinkled across the bill.

Tenacious teen troubadours The Taunts will kick-start the festival's Rock Stage on Saturday afternoon with some zero gravity post-punk, while riffmeister James Bennett and his virtuosic pals in JB3 get the Green Stage all hot and bothered with a hangover-busting frenzy of howling hurricane blues. Then it's back to the Rock Stage for angst-ridden noiseniks The Worldonfire and their cavernous, hypnotic post-rock rumblings before Sawbridgeworth's finest proto-punk Northern soul brothers The Pins continue their remarkable rise from village green dreamers to anthemic social satirists as the evening draws in.

And what better way to round off the local contingent's sterling contribution on Sunday afternoon than with a typically atypical set of psychedelic-glam-polka-folk-punk-pop from the bonkers but brilliant Stereo Typical?

The wife's new dressing table may stay flat-packed for yet another weekend, but bank holiday weekends really shouldn't have to be all MDF, screwdrivers and despair, should they?

● For more details of the festival, or to book tickets, visit the website at www.stortfordmusicfestival.org.uk.

Sauce-ery casts a high kitsch spell

BABA YAGA: THE FINAL CUT

(Shameless Screen Entertainment, 18, retail)

Shameless first announced the release of 1973 Euro sauce-fest Baba Yaga more than two years ago but it's been worth the wait since the label was able to let director Corrado Farina re-edit the film back to a near-as-damn-it approximation of his first cut.

Adapted from the works of celebrated comic book writer/artist Guido Crepax, it's a classy-looking blend of kitsch stylings, erotica, witchcraft, random political sentiments, cursed cameras, Nazi-flavoured S&M dreams and a leather-clad doll that turns into a dominatrix, largely shot and cut to closely resemble the look and pacing of its printed page source.

Walking home one night in Milan, waif-faced photographer Valentina (Isabelle De Funés) is nearly run down by a speeding limo driven by a faintly sinister older woman (Carroll Baker), who promptly gives her a ride home, purloins one of her suspender clips and introduces herself as Baba Yaga (evidently a more attractive incarnation of the cannibal hag from Russian folklore).

The next morning, the witch barges into Valentina's apartment, comes on to her with all the subtlety of a drunk farmhand at the May ball and puts a hex on her camera to kill or disable those it pictures.

Torn between her more conventional affections for boyfriend Arno (George Eastman) and the emotions stirred by the predatory sorceress in her crumbling rococo mansion (complete with a bottomless pit under the drawing room carpet), Valentina slowly drifts into a realm where dream, fantasy and reality intersect and blur.

Despite the abundance of kinky fashion and female flesh on show, Baba Yaga is more titillating than shocking, content for the most to drift along as a teasing mystery to the accompaniment of Piero Umiliani's hugely infectious funky opening song and subsequent solo piano score.

Farina's restored material includes a couple of full frontal scenes and a curious opening sequence featuring a groovy political 'happening' in a graveyard, and the wealth of extras include an interview with him, his informative short documentaries Freud A Fumetti and Fummettophobia, a gallery and a text commentary.

Star rating: ★★★★★

COLD PREY/COLD PREY: RESURRECTION

(Momentum Pictures, 18, retail)

Slasher movies have enjoyed a major resurgence, although it's a shame America – the country which popularised the sub-genre – has largely met the renewed interest with a welter of remakes ranging from the okay-but-pointless (Friday The 13th, My Bloody Valentine) to the atrocious (Rob Zombie's wretched Halloween, Prom Night, Black Christmas).

Luckily, Norway has no comparable cinematic heritage and so director/co-writer Roar Uthaug gets to create his own little corner of slice-and-dice hell from the ground up.

In 2006's Cold Prey, a group of young friends head off to a remote mountainous region for extreme snowboarding and are forced to take refuge in an abandoned hotel when one of them breaks a leg – the prelude to a night of terror and panic as they're stalked by a hulking, ice axe-wielding killer.

In outline it sounds as formulaic as any other slasher, but Uthaug knows a thing or two about tension and impact; while effectively paying homage to the plot clichés everybody expects (and wants), he layers them onto a foundation of strong and likeable characterisations and delivers each with a maximum of sweaty-palmed tension.

Also, Ingrid Bolsø Berdal is exceptionally good as the resourceful 'final girl' Jannicke and is a welcome returnee for the 2008 sequel Cold Prey: Resurrection which, despite being directed by Mats Stenberg, looks and feels like a seamless continuation of the original.

Picking up immediately after the events of the first film, the story moves to and stays in a small community hospital, a la Halloween 2, where survivor Jannicke has been taken for treatment.

Down in the mortuary are the remains of her friends – and the body of their killer. Before you can yell "clear!", well-intentioned but misguided medics have jolted him back to life and he's soon back in business. Stenberg jumps into the thick of it with a swifter pace and bolder killings, but it's still the performances by Berdal and her fellows which carry the day.

A top box set for those seeking something fresh, with Cold Prey: Resurrection also released separately.

Star rating: ★★★★★

FINGERPRINTS

(Anchor Bay Entertainment, 15, retail)

An interesting but not entirely successful bid to blend a ghost story with a slasher film, Fingerprints centres on teenager Melanie (Leah Pipes), fresh out of rehab and moving to a small Texas town with a big secret. Decades earlier, a busload of children died on the town's railway crossing and urban legend has it that if you stop your car on the spot, their ghosts will push you to safety, leaving only telltale fingerprints.

But as Mel digs into the story, a very flesh-and-blood presence in the town begins a brutal killing spree. Neither fish nor fowl, the film is entertainingly creepy enough, even though its mystery is far too easy to figure out considering only two characters are old enough to be connected to the original accident and one of them shows up as a victim.

Star rating: ★★★

A BUNCH OF AMATEURS

(Entertainment In Video, 15, retail & rental)

A light comedy from the Richard Curtis School of Feelgood Froth with the Isle of Man unconvincingly mugging as Suffolk and ancient Hollywood action star Burt Reynolds unconvincingly mugging as merely over-the-hill Hollywood action star Jefferson Steel.

With work drying up, advancing age and an alienated daughter, Steel is accidentally booked to play (spookily enough) King Lear with a small village am dram group.

Will he fold at the challenges of the role and his co-players (including a waspish Derek Jacobi and scene-stealing Imelda Staunton) or learn to be a better human being by the end? Does Hamlet wear tights? Pleasant enough, unchallenging and sporadically amusing – it's hard to believe that the satirical might of Ian Hislop had a hand in the screenplay.

Nissan's Note-worthy contender

By RICHARD M HAMMOND

APPEARING on the shopping list of savvy buyers up and down the country, Nissan describes this UK designed and built model as non-conformist. It's not hard to see why.

The Note is a difficult car to place. It's larger than a traditional B-segment super-mini such as the Nissan Micra but more compact than a C-Segment family car such as the Ford Focus.

The fact that Nissan doesn't have a C-Segment contender will not have been lost on smart potential Note customers. The need for one is cleverly negated through a combination of the Note and the popular crossover Qashqai – meaning Nissan essentially has two inventive models in place of a single conventional one.

Packaging is key to the Note's ability to transcend genres. From the outside it has a kind of 'old-school boxy appeal, but the design is not without its quirks. The rear lights extend over the downward slope of the roofline, giving the rear end a more

TEST DRIVE: Nissan Note

MODEL 1.5 dCi 103 Tekna

PRICE £14,245 on the road

CO<sub>2</sub> EMISSIONS 136g/km

PERFORMANCE Top speed 112mph, 0-62mph in 11.1 seconds

FUEL CONSUMPTION 55.4 mpg

ENGINE 1.5-litre diesel unit developing 101bhp and 130lb/ft of torque

TRANSMISSION 6-speed manual gearbox driving all four wheels distinctive look while the bug-eyed front with its short bonnet is reminiscent of the Micra and brims with slightly goofy charm. Inside the Note you'll be thankful for that short bonnet and boxy shape as it translates into a very roomy interior. Height seems to be one of the model's key attributes and, although it's actually shorter than some of the mini-MPVs that Nissan has in its scopes, it still offers a large amount of headroom.

Thanks to the headroom there is potential for creating a raised driving position that combines the model's excellent visibility and easily judged dimensions to make the Note a very easy car to manoeuvre.

The downside to the copious interior height and long wheelbase is that, in comparison, the width of the Note feels less impressive. Although hardly cramped, the rear will not accommodate three adults without a struggle. Two adults will find it comfortable though, thanks largely to the ability to slide the rear seats forward and back and maximise the already generous legroom.

That also means there's potential to maximise boot space. A two-tier boot floor uses twin panels to create a number of storage options; a deep boot, a high shelf for easy loading, secret storage underneath or using just one panel to barricade in the groceries are all on the cards. The square rear and well-proportioned boot door means making the most of the room available is simple.

In an eminently sensible car, the eminently sensible 1.5-litre diesel engine makes the most sense. The high power version, with a shade over 100bhp compared to the 85bhp of the standard model, certainly makes its extra clout felt with a respectable zero to 62mph time of just over 11 seconds and a brisk turn of ingear pace that belies the Note's rather more understated demeanour.

Naturally there's a price to be paid in terms of fuel efficiency, but even the lesser figure will suffice for all but the most exacting of drivers. Opting for the more powerful version without due consideration is not recommended, however, firstly because its diesel particulate filter will not respond well to repeated short journeys and, secondly, because the highly strung unit can be less satisfying to use around town thanks to its eagerness to apply the turbo.

Away from the stop-start urban environment the high power diesel Note is more at ease, with a firm chassis and measured ride, responsive steering and well weighted controls. The interior layout is traditional and very easy to live with, although the smaller gauges are bordering on too small with digits that can be hard to read at a glance.

Hard to read for a different reason is the specification list for the Tekna model, chiefly because it's so long. High-end equipment such as auto lights and wipers are included, along with a six-disc changer, part leather, folding mirrors, alloy wheels and privacy glass. Importantly for family vehicle, ESP is standard, too.

A difficult car to place the Note may be but its far from difficult to see the appeal. Roomy, extremely practical and cost effective, its part hatchback part MPV styling shouldn't put off those more used to a traditional shape, as the benefits are plain to see.

Scrap

End of the road for your vehicle?

Responsible drivers scrap their vehicles at an Authorised Treatment Facility (ATF).

Because only an ATF can legally scrap a vehicle. That means any pollutants will be made safe before it's recycled in an environmentally friendly way.

What's more, for certain types of vehicle you'll get a DVLA approved Certificate of Destruction (CoD). A CoD proves that the ATF has told DVLA your vehicle has been scrapped and so is no longer your responsibility. www.direct.gov.uk/motoring

BERR

End of the road? Get over it and move on with your local ATF:

Libya team to play Harlow

LIBYA'S national football team will take on a Harlow Town XI at Barrows Farm on Monday (7.45pm KO).

The African side is staying in Harlow for a few days as part of a pre-Olympic Games training camp.

It is thought that the squad are the first national team to hold a training camp in England ahead of the 2012 Games in London.

Osagie inspired by Dame Kelly

HIGHLY-rated middle-distance runner Andrew Osagie was part of a group of talented young athletes at a training camp in Portugal run by double Olympic Gold medalist Dame Kelly Holmes.

The 21-year-old Harlow Athletic Club member, who represented England at an international meeting in Bratislava, Slovakia, in 2007, was part of the training camp.

He was one of five OCKW (On Camp With Kelly) athletes from London-based St Mary's University that headed out to Vilamoura with coach Craig Winrow.

Dame Kelly took the opportunity to spend time with all of them and nine other OCKW athletes to discuss their training programmes and the upcoming season as well as to pass on her advice and expertise.

Former Leventhorpe School student Osagie said: "A good warm weather training environment enables you to train consistently and there was a good group atmosphere."

"Kelly was very motivating and especially helpful when cross training."
Dame Kelly said: "Not only do the athletes benefit from the warm climate but they are also able to focus totally on their training away from the distractions of home."
"It was very important for me to be able to spend time with Andrew in Portugal and catch up on his progress."
Dame Kelly won two gold medals in the Athens 2004 Olympics. OCKW, supported by insurance company Aviva since 2004, is Dame Kelly's mentoring initiative. For more information about 'On Camp with Kelly' and latest news and updates visit oncampwithkelly.co.uk

Captain's hot off the press

FLEET Street veteran Graham Brownsell's name was certainly hot off the press as he started his year as captain at Harlow's Canons Brook Golf Club.

The 64-year-old golfer, pictured above, who has been a member of the Elizabeth Way club for 30 years, looked set for a lengthy drive-in – until his shot hit a tree and bounced back a fair distance to 102 yards.

He had earlier lined up with an old hickory-shafted club to tease his club-mates before switching to a modern-day wood – and then promptly finding the large tree on the left of the 15th fairway.

Ironically, last year's captain Dave Burton won the annual competition to guess the length of the captain's drive-in.

Brownsell, who plays off a 16 handicap, has now retired from his job as a printer working on the Daily Telegraph.

The Shotgun Trophy, which was run alongside the captain's drive-in, was won by Colin Ledwith who shot a superb 41 points playing off a 4 handicap.

The event raised £142 for the MS Society.

Brownsell, who was born in Old Harlow, and Lady Captain Ann Clark are both raising money for the East Herts and West Essex branch of the MS Society this year.

Running club veterans' top three finishes

Running

Roy Steven was 2nd with 38:50 in the vet 50 category.

There were also five personal best (PB) for Harlow runners.

Other results: Dionne Jones 44:17 (PB);

Catherine Syme 52:12 (PB); Alison Bull 53:05 (PB); Wendy Spring 55:45; Denise Goodchild 58:37; Janice Forth 58:37; Linda Hawkins 59:52 (PB); Lisa Hacker 60:48; Janet Webster 61:44; Kim Wookey 61:44 (PB); Karen Phillips 66:30; Sean Fowler 66:30.

Shield final loss for U-13 team

THERE was a heartbreaking defeat for Harlow Rugby Club's U-14 team in the final of a prestigious tournament at Colchester.

The Junior Rams were denied by a strong Ipswich side who beat them 27-5 in the final.

In their pool matches, Harlow came third.

They beat Colchester development Squad 5-0 with flanker Matt Smith scoring the only try.

Scrum-half Andre Riddell injured his Achilles tendon in this game and played no further part.

Harlow also beat Saffron Walden with tries from Dominic Lane and Smith. Harlow beat Stamford in the semi-final thanks to a great try from Sonny Handscombe, who ran half the length of the pitch.

Skipper Zac Chamnaouie scored in the final but Ipswich proved too strong.

Harlow's U-13 team performed a guard of honour before Saracens' Guinness Premiership game against Leicester Tigers.

The side lined up at Vicarage Road after winning 45-14 against Stevenage, a team who had beaten them by 40 points just 17 months ago.

Try scorers included Frazer Bleach (2), Connor Hatcher, Tom Cunningham (3), Aaron Humphreys.

Scot Whitby added five conversions.

Harlow Colts beat Datchworth Colts 33-15.

Terry Blackman kicked four out of five conversions.

Fly-half Barney Goodey, who has missed several months with a long-term injury, celebrated his return with a well-taken try after coming on as sub.

James Clark (2) and Dan Hockley were among the other try scorers.

Harlow U-17s defeated Wanstead 26-5. Harlow fly-half Danny Smith had another outstanding game and scored the visitors' first two tries.

Jordan Cable (2) got the other two tries, while Smith added three conversions.

Harlow U-16s lost 21-34 at home to Barnet U-16s.

Ben Hockley (2) was among the try scorers for Harlow.

England debut for McClarnon

NATALIE McClarnon played a part in try as England Ladies U-20s won an international match against Wales.

McClarnon, below, made her international debut when she came on during the second half in her specialist position at hooker. She took one put-in against the head and made a pinpoint throw-in to the line-out on the 5m line and contributed to an England try.

England won 26-8. It was held on Tuesday last week in Colwyn Bay. McClarnon hopes to represent England Ladies in the Nations Cup in July. McClarnon and all the other squad members now face intensive training and trials to secure their places.

Skipper aims for major improvement

(RFU London division one)

PAUL Eynon is confident the Rams can finish in the top half of the table next year.

The Rams had already avoided relegation prior to Saturday's win over bottom club Norwich.

Harlow skipper Eynon said: "We have lacked consistency and given away silly tries.

"It has been a year when we have brought in a lot of players from the seconds and colts last season and if we can keep the injuries to a minimum next season we can finish mid-table."

Lee Harron replaced James McFerran (ankle injury) against Norwich and enjoyed a great game at fly-half.

The visitors went ahead on eight minutes when prop Jon Snowling crashed through for an unconverted try.

From the kick-off Rams' Wayne Morgan caught an awkward bouncing ball and powered over for a try

Jokers triumph

Harlow suffer semi-final defeat in Herts League Cup

Ware Jokers 78, Harlow Hawks 63
(Herts Basketball League Division One Cup, semi-final)

A LACK of composure at the death cost Harlow Hawks dearly as they lost to eventual winners Ware Jokers in the Herts Division One League Cup semi-final.

The Hawks trailed for much of Sunday's last four clash at Ware's Wodson Park but had cut the hosts' lead to five points with two minutes left.

Hawks then lost their way before Jokers converted free throws to win by 15 points.

Hawks player-coach Shab Niaz said: "In the final two minutes we needed to be more composed and move the ball better."

Jokers later beat Luton in the final, held on the same day. Ware went ahead at the start but Hawks bounced back in their semi-final.

Big man Mark Haddow was missing for the game but Russ Allan filled the void well as he and Niaz combined well to give the Hawks a 13-4 lead.

However, Jokers fought back and the teams were level (13-13) when they went into the second quarter.

Both teams exchanged scores before a three-minute spell saw Jokers enjoy a 17-0 run.

Three-pointers from Dave Spashett and Paul Jessopp saw Hawks recover and they trailed 35-25 at half-time.

The teams traded baskets in the third quarter and Jokers were ahead going into the last quarter (56-46).

The Jokers got back-to-back three-pointers to open up a big lead but scores from Mike Freeman and Spashett cut the advantage to five.

But Ware finished strongly to secure a place in the final.

Niaz added: "In our game, we got off to a terrific start and it was disappointing to lose, especially as we had managed to get ourselves back in the game a number of times after two bad phases of play in the first half. But overall, we have had a good season."

HARLOW HAWKS: Jessopp (15pts), Allan (12), Freeman (12), Niaz (10), Spashett (10), Moss (4), Sharma, Burgess, Collier.

Al's about that for a cup final winner

GPCA 1, Rouge Lyon 0
(Harlow & District Football League, Premier Division Cup final)

FORMER Inter Milan and Charlton Athletic winger Alex Martin scored the only goal as GPCA clinched the Premier Division Cup at Barrows Farm on Sunday.

Harlow-based Martin, right, who had spells at the Addicks and Inter in his teens, proved the difference in a hotly-contested final with few chances.

The first half saw a few speculative efforts from both sides but neither keeper was forced into making any real saves.

In the second half, Rouge striker Roydon Weekes forced the GPCA keeper

Andros Demosthenous into a great save.

Shortly after Demosthenous saved well from Carl Smith to keep the score goal-less.

GPCA finally made the breakthrough on 67 minutes when Martin, who also plays for Takeley in the Essex Senior League, headed his side into the lead from a free-kick.

Rouge attacked, looking for an equaliser and Weekes again went close after some good work from Lloyd Opara.

At the other end Chris Grove went close for GPCA.

Micheal White, normally a goalkeeper, came off the bench and was pushed up front as Rouge tried to take advantage of his height at set-pieces.

However, the side failed to create any further goalscoring chances as GPCA held on to take the win and hold onto the cup for a second year running.

Rouge will now concentrate on their league form.

The side can still win the premier division title but must play 12 games in the next month.

They had a huge backlog due to the combination of success in several cup competitions and the harsh winter weather which left them without a game for several weeks.

● EPPING'S bid to beat the drop received a massive boost with a 4-0 win over close rivals Potter Street on Saturday.

Chris Muir (2) and Cheng Mpanitsa (2) secured the points.

Second-from-bottom Epping (18 points) remain three points adrift of Galleywood.

Two go down from this division and both Epping and Galleywood have a game in hand on Potter Street (23 points).

Frontiers head back down

FRONTIERS' failure to beat Dunmow Rhodes ensured the Harlow team were relegated from the premier division of the Footprint Bishop's Stortford, Stansted & District League.

Goals from Lewis Pablou and Paul Kingets were not enough as the visitors won 3-2.

Frontiers are nine points adrift of third-from-bottom Potter Street A with four games left. Two points are awarded for a win.

The title race is hotting up as perennial contenders Alemite Athletic and North Weald once again fight it out.

Alemite won 5-0 at Birchanger. Scorers were Lewis Eaglestone (2), Richard Stapleton, Simon Hewitt and Anthony James.

Weald stayed top after a 5-3 home defeat of Pelly House.

In division one, Hatfield Heath reserves closed the gap on leaders Heath Rovers to two points with a 4-0 success at Avondale Rangers.

Other results: prem div - Hatfield Heath 2, Sheering 6; Quendon Ath 2 (Joe Murphy, Martyn Clark), Loughton 1.

Div one: Hertfordshire Rangers 1, Thorley Park 2; North Weald reserves 4 (Jason Pottle 2, Gary Branscombe 2), Potter Street A 2; Thaxted Rangers reserves 1, Albury 3.

Beaten Harlow still go up

PROMOTION was secured by Annor Harlow Squash Club despite a defeat at Royston in their final match.

Harlow's main rivals also lost on the same night so the Sportcentre side still went up from division five of the Herts Squash League division 5.

Harlow were without their unbeaten number one player Ian Gould and this proved too big a handicap as they were narrowly beaten 3-2 by Royston.

Promoted number one string Mike Symmons proved too strong for his opponent and won easily 15-10, 15-10, 15-7.

Harlow's second string John Tennant went down 8-15, 1-15, 10-15.

Third string Dan Collison won his first game 15-13 but could not keep up the pressure and lost the next three 8-15, 12-15, 11-15.

Fourth string Andy Davis struggled against his opponent and lost 6-15, 8-15, 17-19.

But fifth string Richard Lewis battled to a 15-13, 16-14, 15-10 win.

Harlow finished in the second promotion spot, just ahead of St Albans-based Nuffield Heath.

Season ends on low for Sawbo

THE Essex Senior League season ended in an anti-climax for 10-man Sawbridgeworth Town as they were thrashed 5-0 against Burnham Ramblers at Leslie Field.

Saturday's defeat saw Robins skipper Richard Longley sent off on 78 minutes after he allegedly elbowed a home player.

The hosts had the edge before they took a firm grip on the game with goals from Ashley Hawkins on 28 and 29 minutes.

Burnham increased their lead as Paul Carr tucked home a rebound on 55 minutes and Stuart Fergus scored from a quick breakaway on 69 minutes.

After Sawbridgeworth went down to 10 men, they conceded a fifth goal on 80 minutes. Keith Wilson converted a penalty awarded after Hawkins had been brought down just inside the box by Bradley Smith.

Stay in the Blackey with England champ

Welcome to Inside Track, our column that gives you the reader an insight into Harlow Greyhound Stadium as our top tipster reveals his favourites for tomorrow.

ENGLAND champion trainer Mark Wallis sends a strong team to Harlow tomorrow night (Friday) and he looks to have been given plenty of decent chances to reward his loyal supporters.

BLACKKEY SAID SO is a member of the Wallis squad and is strongly fancied to make all the running from a perfect trap 6 berth.

She often produces her fastest starts from trap 6 and if able to break in her best fashion, should prove too good for her rivals at 9.45pm.

RAGGA DIVA, another from the Wallis camp, can end a long losing run at 8.30pm. She has every chance of gaining a clear run early on and she can take up the running at the third bend.

The feature event on the card is a top grade stayers event at 10pm. DAPHIS GIRL is the strongest runner in the field and can land a comfortable victory.

Friday 24th April Selections:

7.30pm Vigorous Amy; 7.45pm Serenity Sam; 8pm Jiggy Jazz; 8.15pm Coke Tip Man; 8.30pm Ragga Diva; 8.45pm Election Kitty; 9pm Tain Lynx; 9.15pm Dainty Lee; 9.30pm Serious Signal; 9.45pm Blackey Said So; 10pm Daphis Girl; 10.15pm Vigorous Freddie.

Axe man cometh as boss plans shake-up

"I probably should have been more ruthless. I gained success from that and encouraging players and believing in their abilities," said Alzapiedi.

"I felt the right way to do it was to give people a chance and not prejudge anyone from the previous squad."

Alzapiedi claimed part of the responsibility for Harlow going down but said: "I do not think enough players have done themselves justice in many ways. Some players have not performed to anywhere near the standard they should have."

The Harlow boss identified the period in late March as being a key reason as to why Harlow went down.

Five points were gained from five matches during this time.

"It [relegation] had been on the cards for a long while. We had opportunities to get ourselves out of it. We did not take them and gave ourselves too much to do.

"We had a run of games against Ashford Town, Canvey Island, Dartford, Heybridge Swifts and Billericay where we only got one win," he said. "If we had won at least three of them we would have been safe."

Coach battles back

But his fortune changed last week when he was selected as coach for the Great Britain team for the European Youth Olympics.

He will take a squad of two U-15 boys and two U-15 girls to Tampere for the youth Olympics in July.

Morris is a head coach at the LTA's Centre of Excellence at Gosling in Hertfordshire. He will also help select the squad of four for the trip to Finland.

He said: "I said [to Leon Smith, the head of LTA] I would like to be considered for the men's senior team for the Commonwealth Games in Delhi and he came back straight away with this [the youth Olympics]."

The youth Olympics is held every four years.

Forty-two countries will compete in Scandinavia, involving some 2,500 athletes and officials.

Great Britain will send up to 90 athletes to the eight-day event. The opening ceremony will be held on July 17.

Harlow go down without a fight

Carshalton Ath 3, Harlow Tn 1

(Ryman League, premier division)

DAVID RIMMER reports from the War Memorial Sports Ground
rimmerd@hertsessexnews.co.uk

THERE was no miracle for 10-man Hawks as their relegation was confirmed by Saturday's defeat at promotion-chasing Carshalton.

This loss combined with positive results for the teams around Harlow Town sealed their fate.

It ended Harlow's two-years stay in the premier division as they go back down to division one north.

Harlow's miserable afternoon ended with centre-half Paul Kear sent off for a second bookable offence when he pulled down Robins' striker Charlie Ide in the box on 89 minutes.

Substitute Junior Kadi converted the penalty to make it 3-1.

And not even the most blinkered Harlow fan could argue that Carshalton were the more accomplished side.

The Hawks, missing defenders Danny Wolf (muscle injury) and Laurie Stewart (knee injury) enjoyed patches of good play but had no real penetration while the hosts were the more dominant side.

The Surrey side went ahead on 15 minutes. A ball from Adrian Toppin was latched onto by Ide who finished from eight yards.

Shortly after, Hawks keeper James Hasell brilliantly tipped round a Jamie England header to save a certain goal.

Harlow weathered the storm but could not convert possession into domination. The visitors suffered a setback when midfielder Sam Berry went off with a hamstring injury. He was replaced by Mark Taylor.

Harlow improved but were lucky not to concede when prolific striker Richard Jolly broke but then only scuffed a shot at Hasell on 40 minutes.

Harlow brought on striker John Frenzo for Jamie Richards at the break.

The match came to life when Harlow equalised on 62 minutes. Sub Chris Ellerbeck converted Shaun Gliddon's left-wing cross.

But Harlow's hopes vanished as Carshalton went back in front just three minutes later.

Jolly tucked home after Ide nodded on a long punt forward.

Carshalton looked the better side and Barry Robins fired over the visitors' bar before the hosts scored their third goal with a minute remaining.

Players must take blame

SAM Berry said the Hawks players were absolutely 'gutted' in the dressing room – but that everybody had only themselves to blame for the relegation from the Ryman premier division.

The 22-year-old midfielder joined Harlow Town from Ware along with six other players when their former boss Glen Alzapiedi took over in December.

"It's the first time it has happened to us and we are gutted. Nobody enjoys being relegated," said Berry.

"We were second from bottom when we came but we did have four games in hand.

"We only needed to have won two more games than we did. We have just not done well enough."

He added: "What was important was four or five games at home. We also did not do well against the lesser sides.

"We lost 5-2 to Ashford at home and also lost 1-0 to Heybridge Swifts. Those are the type of games that cost us badly. However, we did well against Hendon and also drew at Canvey."

Berry felt that with some new faces there is no reason why the club cannot win the division one north championship next season.

"I want to stay faithful to Glen. If we can keep the squad and have two or three new players we can go on and win the championship," he said.

Striker Chris Ellerbeck, another player from Ware, said: "We have not been good enough over a whole season. It has been a difficult time for Glen. It takes time to get when you bring new players in."

'We'll go back up as champs'

RESOLUTE Hawks chairman Simon Morgan is determined that Harlow Town bounce back to win the Ryman League premier division.

And Morgan (44), does not just want promotion but wants the division one north title next season.

The Hawks' fate was sealed when Glen Alzapiedi's men lost 3-

1 at promotion-hunting Carshalton Athletic on Saturday.

The Harlow chairman wants the club to put relegation behind them as quickly as possible.

He said: "I am very disappointed but what has happened is more disappointing for the people of Harlow than myself.

"I know I can bring the club back with Glen and that we will bounce back as quickly as possible. He is non-stop football and is a Uefa B coach."

HOPEFUL: Hawks chairman Morgan

He added: "He has great experience of Non-League football and I believe he will pull us through. Glen knows we want to win the championship."

However, Morgan was not absolving Alzapiedi entirely for the club's relegation. Alzapiedi took over when the club was second from bottom just before Christmas.

"Glen has to take some responsibility for what has happened but most of the damage was done beforehand," he said.

"We accomplished one part of our aims this season which was to get into the first round of the FA Cup but not the other which was to finish mid-table. A lot of the problems were after the FA Cup run. We only got one point in nine games."

Morgan is also keen to stress that he would look at his own position if the club did not bounce back to the premier division within two seasons.

"I am the chairman of a football club in a big town and we need progress," he said. "If we are not back in two seasons I would have to go and bring somebody else in."

Secretary offered to resign over points deduction

HAWKS club secretary Jim Aldridge has revealed that he offered to resign after the three-points deduction for playing the ineligible Ricci Crace.

The points deduction played a big part in Harlow's relegation from the Ryman League premier division.

Crace was signed from Ryman division one north side Enfield Town before Harlow's game at Wealdstone on February 14, which they won 2-1. However, the appropriate paperwork had not been sent by Enfield to the League in time and the Hawks were subsequently deducted three points.

Aldridge offered to resign, but this was rejected by Harlow Town's chief executive Gary Lewis and chairman Simon Morgan.

Harlow lodged an appeal with the FA. This was heard at Soho Square earlier this month but was rejected.

Aldridge (57), right, said: "I offered my resignation to Gary Lewis and Simon Morgan but it was not taken. It has been worrying me for weeks. I feel I have let everybody down. It was my error."

Aldridge was upset by Enfield's role in this matter. His life partner Frances Cunneen was a director at Enfield Town FC at the time.

"I was not happy that Enfield did not do their job. Frances was sent an e-mail [on February 11] from another Enfield director that Ricci had been released. It was also put on their website on February 11 that he had been released.

"Enfield were only fined £27 for the charge. It has cost us a bit more."

Boss plans shake-up after Hawks go down

ANGRY: Hawks boss Glen Alzapiedi

GLEN Alzapiedi pledged a massive summer shake-up at Harlow Town FC after watching his ailing side go down with a whimper at promotion-chasing Carshalton.

The Hawks have been relegated from the Ryman League premier division after just two years in the top flight.

By DAVID RIMMER
rimmerd@hertsessexnews.co.uk

However, Harlow chairman Simon Morgan, who appointed Alzapiedi in December, has said he would like the former Ware boss to carry on as boss at Barrows Farm.

Alzapiedi said: "If he wants me to carry on, there will be a big change in staff. If he wants me to take the club up I would take it. I could not do things about some players who we had deals we had to honour but things will be different next season."

Reflecting on Harlow's relegation, Alzapiedi admitted that he should have been more ruthless.

Alzapiedi took over as boss after player-manager Ryan Kirby was sacked just before Christmas.

The new Hawks manager brought in seven players from Ware, whom he had taken to the top of Ryman division one north before he quit as boss in early December.

The March departures of midfielders Leon Lalite and Dee Okojie – combined with the three-points deduction – had a vital impact.

Coach battles back from horrific injury to lead GB

A TENNIS coach told he would never play the game again after an horrific accident in January hopes to defy medical science after being named as manager of the Great Britain team for this summer's European Youth Olympics in Finland.

And Morris, pictured right, who celebrated his 27th birthday on Tuesday, hopes it will be a step towards him coaching the England senior tennis team at the Commonwealth Games in Delhi, India, next year.

Morris, of Ram Gorse, who coached the England team at the Commonwealth Youth Games last year, has endured plenty of misfortune this winter but is now back on the mend.

On his return from coaching young tennis stars in South America in January he slipped on ice near his home and shattered his fibia in 10 places AND fractured an ankle in two places. He also snapped three ligaments.

He has since undergone two operations. "The first op was on my leg and ankle. I have a plate in my leg and a screw in my ankle," Morris explained.

Morris has played the sport since he was just a few years old.

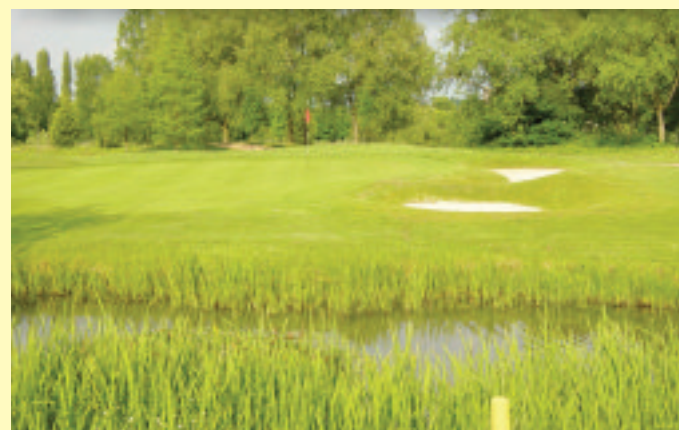

"The doctor said I would never play again, but I am just hoping it is not too serious," he said.
